To William Efird, Certification and Compliance Attorney, 1604 Santa Rosa Road, Suite 200, (804) 662-7249 ext. 134,

My son Brian David Hill re-read his complaint and memorandum affidavit and realized that he made a confusing statement on multiple paragraphs which needed clarification to explain them. It is truthful but needed clarification from my son. He explains that in his emergency letter to you. He rather this be corrected as quick as possible before any further action or review or investigation taken by your office. Brian thought it needed to be clarified so that it makes sense. It would take forever to mail this quick clarification emergency letter. It is important.

It is attached.

If you accept this clarification as to his confusing statements, then please let us know. He has autism, so he works on things quickly, gets tired, and then crashes by falling asleep. He works hard on things, and it overwhelms him. So please accept my son's clarification for his clerical mistakes in his memorandum. His attorney knows that my son has autism and type one diabetes. My son's claims on his autism and diabetes can easily be proven in any investigation.

Normally my son would mail this as cheaply as possible for this, but this clerical mistake needs to be corrected or clarified as soon as possible. If you want him to mail a copy, Brian can just mail it with a stamp as cheaply as possible and then hopefully Brian can be notified or I can be notified that it was received by your office.

Thanks,
